Dear Gopal-

12 years ago, you helped arranged a tour for me at the Trombai reactor. I noticed, at that time, a heavy microbial growth, apparently illuminated by the ~~XXXX~~ Cerenkov radiation!

Later, I thought I had seen some published article which described microorganisms growing in that swimming-pool reactor or some similar one. But I have lost the reference.

Can you verify whether there have been any studies of the microbial growth at Trombai, and especially let me have references to any such papers?

I would be grateful for a reply at your early convenience, even if this must be incomplete or negative or convey only a personal recollection.

All best wishes,

Sincerely,

Prof. Joshua Lederberg
